FRIDAY AFTERNOON, FEB. 17, 1882.

BOSTON has contracted for one hundred electric lights for her streets.

THE United States Senate passed the Anti-polygamy bill yesterday, after a long debate.

AN amendment to the apportionment bill, fixing the number of representatives at 325, was yesterday agreed to in the House of Representatives.

BALTIMORE's voting census, according to the return of the police, completed on Wednesday, is 83,197, an increase of 4,047 since August last.

A SOUTHERN exchange aptly observes that the women of the South, who for four years almost clothed an army in the field, should engage in the industry of silk growing.

IT WAS the general sentiment of the Georgia State Agricultural Society, which held a convention this week at Augusta, that more grain and less cotton should be planted in that State.

AT a lunch served in oriental style in Chicago twelve Eastern languages were spoken. Most people find one language enough at a lunch or dinner, except when they are hungry and can't get the attention of a waiter.

BISHOP WIGHTMAN, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, died in Charleston, South Carolina, Wednesday morning at the age of 74. He was licensed to preach fifty-five years ago, and was elected Bishop in 1866.

A COLD wave is predicted by the Signal Service. It will probably be along this way to-night or to-morrow. The temperature yesterday in the extreme Northwest was seventeen degrees below zero—an extraordinary fall of forty-four degrees in the previous twenty-four hours.

A PETITION nearly five thousand feet long, asking for the repeal of the taxes on bank deposits and bank checks, was presented to the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives yesterday. It bears the signature of merchants, manufacturers, mechanics and farmers residing in nearly every State of the Union.

ANOTHER disaster by sea, attended with the loss of twenty lives, is reported. The steamship Bahama, from the West Indies, bound to Quebec, was overtaken by a terrible storm and went down. Her crew embarked in two boats, one of which was swamped. The crew of the other boat, nine in number, were saved.

THE House Committee on Territories adopted on Wednesday the report of its sub-committee in favor of the admission of Southern Dakota into the Union as a State. Thus far the partisan scheme to gain two Republican senators from another new State with no more population than a good New York county has moved along smoothly.

A. M. SOTELDO, shot during the affray in the office of the Washington National Republican, died of his injuries Saturday night. The bullet taken from his body, at the autopsy, corresponds exactly with the one extracted from Barton's neck. This confirms the theory advanced immediately after the shooting, that A. C. Soteldo shot his brother while firing at Barton. He has been committed without bail. Barton is recovering from his wounds.

PRESIDENT ARTHUR has not yet solved the puzzle of the Wilmington postmastership. He is still sleeping on it, and Mr. Pyle and Major Swiggett yet linger on the ragged edge of uneasiness. Wednesday a despatch from Washington, announcing that ex-Marshal John M. Dunn had trotted in as a dark horse and captured the prize, caused much excitement in Wilmington and particularly among the friends of Pyle and Swiggett. The despatch turned out to be a hoax, but Dunn is in Washington with his pockets full of "letters of recommendation," after almost anything he can get in the way of office.

THERE was a panic in the grain market at Chicago on Wednesday and two heavy failures, with aggregate liabilities amounting to $450,000. Kenyon & Co., one of the firms who failed, are very heavy dealers, and an old and well known firm. They are believed to be "long" on from 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 bushels of wheat. These failures and the downward tendency of the wheat and corn markets caused much anxiety in Philadelphia, where wheat fell four cents, but rallied a little before the close of the afternoon session of the Commercial Exchange. There were no failures in Philadelphia.

THE Tammany men in the New York Legislature have at last gone over to the Republicans. Wednesday, in the Senate, a resolution empowering the President to name the standing committees was carried, and in the House a Republican Clerk was elected, by the aid of the votes of the Tammanyites. The Democrats at Albany are to be congratulated upon this result. Whatever they have lost, they have come out of the dead-lock contest with clean skirts. Any bargain with Kelly's treacherous henchmen would have brought only disgrace and defeat to the Democratic party. The Republicans of New York may be able to stand a corrupt bargain with these political traders who are for nothing if not for spoils, but the Democrats are not.

IT SEEMS that many good people have labored under a mistake in supposing that Mr. Hayes, late of Washington city, had gone to that undiscovered country from whose bourne no traveler gets a return check. He is still living quietly in Ohio, attending to his official duties of road commissioner, with the idea that this country has only experienced two great administrations—that of Washington and that of Hayes.

WILLIAM T. CROASDALE, who has been editor-in-chief of the Wilmington Every Evening since its first issue in 1875, severed his connection with it on Monday and will, about the first of March, assume the editorship of a newspaper to take the place of the Baltimore Gazette, which has, for some time, been struggling along in a feeble sort of way. The new paper will be Democratic straight through. Mr. Croasdale has the ability to make it a lively journalistic success, and we doubt not, he will do it. He has edited Every Evening with marked ability and for one the TRANSCRIPT sincerely regrets his withdrawal from the Peninsular journalistic field. Mr. E. N. Valandigham, who has been for some time managing editor of Every Evening, has taken editorial charge of it and will doubtless keep it to the high standard it has attained. In his valedictory Mr. Croasdale announces that Every Evening will continue to be an independent paper, but will probably occupy a less pronounced position on political matters than while under his control.

THE NORTH POLE.

The TRANSCRIPT does not want to deter adventurous persons from going in search of the North Pole, if they feel that way inclined and would sooner freeze to death than die of kidney disease or malaria, or some other civilized complaint, but it seems to us that we might as well give the Pole up to its fate and turn our attention to discovering a case of civil service reform, or something else that promises to pay a better dividend. Of those who have gone out after the Pole many have died in the vain search, others have returned broken in health and good for nothing but to sit by the fire and lie about ice bergs three miles high, but the Pole is still out in the cold. Not one of all those adventurous navigators who have gone out into the Polar region has been able to come back to the newspaper office of his native town, walk joyously in and say to the editor: "Here is a chip off the old Pole itself!" No; expedition after expedition has gone out among the ice bergs and polar bears, but still there are no satisfactory returns. James Gordon Bennett's expedition was the last that sailed away to discover the Pole. It didn't find it, and those of the expedition who are still alive are out somewhere in Siberia, one or two thousand miles from a post-office, and about as hard to find as the old Pole itself. The expedition has cost Mr. Bennett about $350,000, and about the only thing he has learned by his investment is that the Pole can't be reached by boat. If he had come to us in the beginning we would have told him as much for half the money. Mr. Bennett's foolish extravagance in this matter is astonishing. It may be his manner of advertising the Herald, but, if it is, the plan don't seem to promise a return for the investment. Why, there is not a country editor in the land foolish enough to squander $350,000 on an expedition after the North Pole, if he were even sure of bringing the Pole home.

DEAD LANGUAGES.

The TRANSCRIPT never carries much of a load of dead languages around. Our readers have already noticed that, perhaps. We are printing a paper for live people to read, and the United States language is broad and comprehensive enough to convey every thing we have to say, and a great deal more. There is too much dead language floating around now. Schools everywhere are teaching them to boys and girls who can't write and punctuate correctly a note page in their own language. It is cropping out in all our literature, and plain people, like the writer, who haven't had time yet to acquire but a meagre knowledge even of the language of their native land, when they are tripped up on one of these Latin or Greek phrases have to turn over to the back part of Webster's dictionary to find out what in the mischief it means. This is annoying and consumes time, and besides, when the phrase is found and interpreted, it, as a general thing, don't amount to much. Some editors can't write an editorial without sticking a Latin or Greek head to it and dragging in a foreign word every now and then to make people mad. Probably they do this to excite the envy of those editors who don't have any Latin and Greek heads in stock. Lawyers, of course, must acquire and keep a stock of dead language on draught, for a jury would have a mighty poor opinion of a man who would get up before them in a petty larceny case and not quote eighteen inches of Latin to the yard of speech. And doctors—well, they must write their prescriptions in Latin, because if they were to write them in plain English, without trimming, people would know just what they were taking, and like as not have no faith in the medicine. When you come to put the standard remedies in a language that people can understand they sound too simple in name to do a man much good, but when you stick on the Latin names to a prescription one can have it filled up at the drug store in the belief that the medicine will fetch him out of a spell of sickness in two hours by the watch. Take cod liver oil, for instance. It don't sound in English like it would build a man up to any great extent, but when you bring it out in its Latin clothes and call it oleum jecoris aselli it sounds like it would make a man weigh a ton if he would take enough of it. No, the doctors could not get along without the dead languages, neither could the lawyers, and it may be well for a politician to commit a few phrases in the back of the dictionary to work into his speeches; but they seem to be of no possible use in a newspaper printed for Americans. The dead language and living foreign tongue nuisance is growing upon us, however, and before long we may have our sermons, editorials, periodical literature and new novels interspersed with liberal allowances of Greek, Latin, Chinese and Choctaw.

Journalistic.

J. W. SWEELY now spreads the Williamsport Sunday Breakfast Table alone, and makes it as bright and breezy as ever.

THE Winston, N. C., Leader is a bright and welcome exchange that has recently found its way to our table from the "Sunny South."

MERRIS TAYLOR, who has long been city editor of the Wilmington Gazette, has resigned that position and will on March 1st become Mr. Bell's associate on the Sunday Star.

ON Saturday afternoon the employes of Every Evening captured Mr. Croasdale in the composing room and presented him with a set of "Allibone's Dictionary of Authors," a valuable work to literary people. The presentation speech was made by Mr. Valandigham, who succeeds Mr. Croasdale as editor of Every Evening.

THE American Farmer for February contains a number of timely and meritorious articles from practical farmers. The publishers announce that Dr. Thomas Pollard, late Commissioner of Agriculture of Virginia, has become associated with them in their editorial labors. The Farmer is an excellent journal of its class and has recently been much improved.

Military Academy Burned.

The Pennsylvania Military Academy at Chester, a conspicuous building to travelers on the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore railroad, was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. The flames were first discovered in the laboratory, on the fourth floor, and though every effort was made to stay them, the building was soon in ruins. Buckets and Babcock extinguishers were manned by the cadets, and two annexes, a store-house and drill hall, were saved after a hard fight. In the store-house there were 5,000 rounds of ball cartridges and about 500 pounds of powder. These explosives were, with great difficulty, removed beyond the reach of the flames. But few of the contents of the main building were saved. There were 143 cadets enrolled at the institution, many of whom lost their personal effects. A few saved their trunks by throwing them out of the window. The academy was built in 1868 by a company of Chester capitalists. It was a handsome stone structure, four stories in height, 150 feet in length and 60 feet in depth. Colonel Theodore Hyatt was the President of the faculty. The loss is estimated at $125,000 on the building and $15,000 on the furniture, and is only partially covered by insurance. It is said that the academy will soon be rebuilt.

Cashier Baldwin's Prison Life.

Oscar L. Baldwin, the defaulting cashier of the Mechanics' National Bank, of Newark, N. J., who is now a convict in the State prison, at Trenton, under a sentence of fifteen years, was employed last week as gate-keeper. His position is at the great iron gates at the west end of the prison, through which pass the teams that take the supplies to the place or carry the finished work of the prisoners away. The gates open directly upon the street. Baldwin is dressed in the prison garb, which consists of cloth, the right half being deep blue and the left half red, the sleeves being of alternating stripes of blue, white and brown. He was clean shaven, and his hair was cropped close. There is a large scale near the keeper's lodge, and Baldwin, in a clerical capacity, assists in the weighing. Keeper Laverty said that when Baldwin was taken to the prison he requested that no one excepting his relatives should be allowed to see him. Since his imprisonment, however, he has had several visitors, including his brother-in-law, his counsel, and Mr. Dodd. Baldwin rooms with Leeds, the clerk of Leggett, the defaulting comptroller of Elizabeth, while Hedden, the defaulting cashier of the First National Bank of Newark, rooms with Leggett.

Women's Silk Culture Exhibit.

The fair of the Women's Silk Culture Association, held at St. Georges Hall, Philadelphia, was a great success. The Association, of which Mrs. John Lucas is the efficient President, promises to do a good work. There were twenty-six contestants for the premiums, which were awarded as follows:

First premium, $200, to Mrs. Rebecca Taylor, Kennett Square, Chester Co., Pa., for best specimen pound of cocoons which averaged 157 to the quarter pound, and yielded 1¼ ounces of silk, and 2⅝ ounces waste. Mrs. Taylor is the mother of the late Bayard Taylor, the poet and statesman, and is over 82 years of age. It was stated that she is a sufferer from paralysis, or she would have exhibited her interest in the work of the Association by being present.

Second premium, $150, to Mrs. H. M. Button, 330 Mickle street, Camden, N. J., her cocoons averaging 198 to the quarter pound, and yielding 1 7-32 ounces silk, and 2 25-32 ounces waste.

Third premium, $100, to Charles Krauss, Egg Harbor city, N. J., for cocoons averaging 157 to the quarter pound, and yielding 1 1-16 ounces of silk, and 2 15-16 ounces waste.

Fourth premium, $50, to Miss Lillie Titus, Camden, N. J., for cocoons averaging 205 to the quarter pound, and yielding 1⅛ ounces silk, and 2⅞ ounces waste.

Fifth premium, $25, to Mrs. Joseph Lenning, Bridesburg, Pa., for cocoons averaging 225 to the quarter pound, and yielding 1 3-16 ounces silk, and 2 13-16 ounces waste.

Sixth premium, $15, to Miss Hannah Taylor, Cambridge, Burlington, Co., N. J., for cocoons weighing 166 to the quarter pound, and yielding 1 ounce silk, and 3 ounces waste.

Seventh premium, $10, to Mrs. J. B. Kemmerer, Bethlehem, Pa., for 200 cocoons, yielding 1⅛ ounces silk, and 2⅞ ounces waste.

The awards were for the best specimen pounds of cocoons raised in the States of Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, and New Jersey. The same offer is renewed for the coming year, and can be competed for by any of our readers in the States mentioned, who will raise one pound of cocoons and send it to the Association. Instructions for raising silk worms, and the rules governing the competition for the premiums can be had, free of charge by addressing the Women's Silk Culture Association, Philadelphia.

A good Baptist clergyman of Bergen, N. Y., a strong temperance man, suffered with kidney trouble, neuralgia, and dizziness almost to blindness, over two years after he was told that Hop Bitters would cure him, because he was afraid of and prejudiced against "Bitters." Since his cure he says none need fear but trust in Hop Bitters.

Eastern Massachusetts is to have a new tooth-pick factory that will turn out 70,000 an hour.

OUR DOVER LETTER.

DOVER, DEL., Feb. 15.—A report that there were twenty cases of small-pox in your town reached us a few days ago. Some of our people, probably thinking that the plague would soon arrive here, appeared to be considerably alarmed. We have recently been visited by several light cases of the disease, and the rumor, for we trust it is only rumor, of this new outbreak so near us is sufficient of itself to cause some apprehension.——What has been the principal topic for conversation during the past two weeks—the Ryan-Sullivan fight—is now, for the most part, unheard of, being lisped only on the lips of the small boy who thinks that he could have done better than Ryan. We say that it has been the principal topic for conversation, not that our people are inclined to be pugilistic at all, but simply because it happens to be in the ordinary run of human affairs. ——Business here, as elsewhere about this period of the year, is very dull. All the merchants and business men generally seem to be waiting for spring to open.——"Damon and Pythias" is to be given in the Court-house Hall next Tuesday evening. The prospects are that it will be well attended, as there has been rather a dearth of entertainments here this winter.——One evening last week Rev. R. W. Todd, Presiding Elder of Wilmington District, was pleasantly surprised at his residence by a party of friends who came laden with good things, together with many suitable gifts for the gentleman and his wife. The friends had expected to have the Rev. Mr. Martindale, of Smyrna, present, but he was kept away by the illness of his daughter. ——The ladies of the Episcopal Church have a novel way of raising funds for their mite society. During the evenings they are employed as raisin pickers in the canning establishment of Richardson & Robbins. In this way they have raised considerable money during the winter. It is an excellent plan and one which others, who are desirous of church improvement, would do well to adopt. RUBEN.

THE venerable Peter Cooper, of New York, celebrated his 92d birthday on Saturday. Alexander H. Stephens, of Georgia, celebrated his 70th birthday on the same day.

IN a Cincinnati daily we notice that Mr. Tim Gleeson, ex-member of the Council from the Fourth Ward of that city says he suffered terribly with rheumatism all last winter and spring. He tried all kinds of liniments and medicines without any benefit until he used St. Jacobs Oil, the first application of which insured a full night's repose, and its subsequent use entirely cured him. It is a great remedy.—Akron (Ohio) Beacon.

THE JANUARY MONEY FRESHET IN NEW ORLEANS.—On January 10th (being the 140th Monthly Grand Distribution), under the sole management of Gen'ls. G. T. Beauregard, of La., and Jubal A. Early, of Va., of the Louisiana State Lottery, the following named were among Fortune's favorites: The first capital prize was drawn by No. 76,096, held by L. M. Davis, of Morning Star, near Memphis, Tenn. The second capital, $10,000, by No. 19,096, held by Sebastian Lehman, No. 233 Larimer st., Denver City, Col. The third capital, $5,000, by No. 50,307, by True A. Heath, Concord, N. H. The fourth capital prizes, two, of $2,500 each, by No. 10,539, held by ——, Vicksburg, Miss.; and No. 10,535, held by L. Sanders, No. 321 Broadway, New York City. Five prizes of $1,000 each were distributed around among the holders of Nos. 9,452, 15,714, 29,757, 44,504 and 46,229, residing at New Orleans, New York city, Toledo, O., Norfolk, Va., and Topeka, Kan. The 1421 Drawing will occur March 14, and by information can be had on application to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La.

A society paper says no man should think of getting married without $2,000 cash on hand and an income of $1,500 a year. Adam didn't have fifty cents to his back, and yet he got married. HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER is a scientific combination of some of the most powerful restorative agents in the vegetable kingdom. It restores gray hair to its original color. It makes the scalp white and clean. It cures dandruff and humors, and falling-out of the hair. It furnishes the nutritive principle by which the hair is nourished and supported. It makes the hair moist, soft and glossy, and is unsurpassed as a hair dressing. It is the most economical preparation ever offered to the public, as its effects remain a long time, making only an occasional application necessary. It is recommended and used by eminent medical men, and officially endorsed by the State Assayer of Massachusetts. The popularity of Hall's Hair Renewer has increased with the test of many years, both in this country and in foreign lands, and it is now known and used in all the civilized countries of the world.

PROFESSOR PECK STICKS TO THE OLD BIBLE.

A St. Paul gentleman named Bryant has contributed an article to an eastern magazine in which he locks horns with the Bible on the question of the ages of Adam, Methuselah, Noah, and a lot of those early pioneers, and cuts down their ages to a mere bagatelle. At one fell swoop he lops seven hundred and ninety-one years off of Adam, eight hundred and forty-five off of Methuselah, and dismantles Noah, whose age the Bible gives as nine hundred and fifty, to a mere youth of a hundred and fifty-nine. With all due respect to Mr. Bryant we must insist that he keep his vandal hands off of these ancient people. There must be no going behind the returns. The Bible says explicity, "And all the days that Adam lived were nine hundred and thirty years and he died." This plain, unvarnished statement has stood the test of more than four thousand years, has been accepted all over the word by Jew and Gentiles as the solemn truth, only to be called in question at this late day by a man in St. Paul. It must be another case of flour gas. We cannot look at it in any other light. The idea that Moses would go deliberately to work and raise the figures on these old patriarchs, seven or eight hundred years, when no possible motive could exist for his doing so, is all politics. Moses thought just as much of his reputation, and was every bit as careful in making his figures as our agricultural commissioner is in making out his annual report. He would not be likely to place a cudgel in the hands of his political opponents, with which to knock him in the head at the very next campaign, by stuffing in a lot of tissue ballot years on such old settlers and respectable citizens as Adam, Methuselah and Noah. Bob Ingersoll has tried to prove that Moses made mistakes, but though Bob succeeded in proving the innocence of Brady and the other star route men, he never has knocked any large amount of stuffing out of this dead man, that has been dead several thousand years. At least, in the opinion of most people the dead Moses is several lengths ahead of the live Ingersoll, and will come under the string first. The most intelligent men of all ages have been the Bible students, and when one considers how newspapers vary in their statements of facts, and how even evidence in a court of justice will sometimes point both ways, it is most astonishing how few tail feathers have been pulled out of that old book by the smart Alecks who have taken a clatter at it during four thousand years. If statements that we make in the Sun shall stand the racket as well for four thousand years, we shall be perfectly satisfied.—Peck's Sun.

HOW LEATHER SCRAPS ARE UTILIZED.—Every little scrap of leather that flies from the cutters' knives in the Auburn shoe shops is saved, and either goes into leather-board, shoe heels or grease. Who says this isn't an economical age? About two months ago a factory was started for making shoe heels in Auburn. They now have about 25 hands at work and are making about 120 cases of heels per day, or about 15,000 heels. The heels are made entirely of small scraps of upper leather. The scraps are first cut into the right shape by dies. They are then packed and sent to Chelsea, Mass., where the oil is extracted from them by a secret process. They come back dry, and are then pasted together in wooden heel molds. The grease is extracted in order that the heels may be burnished. They take as nice a polish as a genuine sole leather heel. All the pieces that will not go into heels are tried out, and the firm gets two or three barrels of grease per week from this source. It is used again for leather dressing. The firm is endeavoring to obtain possession of the naphtha process of extracting the oil from the whole pieces, and thus save the expense of shipment to Massachusetts. Their heels are largely used in Auburn, and sell at $1.30 to $2.40 per case.—Lewistown (Me.) Journal.

A NOCTURNAL RAMBLE AND WHAT CAME OF IT.—Some genius—we suspect him to belong to the jovial order of humanity—has said: "The day to drone and dream, the night to learn and ramble." We do not propose to dispute this worthy's view of the matter, but present herewith the experience of a Philadelphia journalist, Mr. William H. Cunnington, 1712 North Twentieth street, one of whose nocturnal rambles he thus refers to, beginning his narration rather peculiarly, however: "I am not a rheumatic, and have been troubled very little with bodily pains. Last Tuesday morning I experienced a very annoying stiffness of the neck, which grew worse as the day wore on. Toward evening it became very severe, and I could scarcely turn my head in any direction. Arriving home at tea time, it was with difficulty that I could eat my meal. My wife wanted to rub my neck with St. Jacobs Oil, but I refused, saying I thought the affliction would soon pass away. Tea over, against the remonstrances of my family, I left home to ramble toward the new Chestnut-Street Opera House, about two and a half miles from my residence. I started in the midst of a heavy snow storm, and remained at the theatre until the close of the performance, although I could feel my neck getting worse and becoming very painful. Leaving the play the trouble came to reach home. The storm continued; the car in which I was became blocked in nearly every square, a cold current of air swept through the car, and I did not reach my home until toward 2 A. M., by which time my neck had become absolutely rigid. Then I consented to the use of St. Jacobs Oil, which my wife applied two or three times before I arose. I continued its use that day and by evening I was free from pain, and the next morning I amused myself by twisting my neck in any direction that suited me, and not a vestige of stiffness remained."—Boston Herald.

RESCUED FROM DEATH.—The following statement of William J. Coughlin, of Somerville; Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for it the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer 1877 I was admitted to the City Hospital. While there the doctor said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half dollar. I expended over a hundred dollars in doctors and medicines. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I laughed at my friend, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy him, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

"I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with Diseased Lungs will be induced to take Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and be convinced that Consumption can be Cured. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness. My cough has almost entirely disappeared and I shall soon be able to go to work." Sold by druggists.

STATEMENT
UNDER OATH.

"I HAVE been afflicted for twenty years with an obstinate skin disease, called by some M. D.'s Psoriasis, and others Leprosy, commencing on my scalp, and, in spite of all I could do, with the help of the most skilful doctors, it slowly but surely extended until a year ago this winter it covered my entire person in form of dry scales. For the last three years I have been unable to do any labor, and suffering intensely all the time. Every morning there could be nearly a dustpanful of scales taken from the sheet on my bed, some of them half as large as the envelope containing this letter. In the latter part of the winter my skin commenced cracking open. I tried everything, almost, that could be thought of, without any relief. The 24th of June I started West, in hopes I could reach the Hot Springs. I reached Detroit, and was so low I thought I should have to go to the hospital, but finally got as far as Lansing, Mich., where I had a sister living. One Dr. treated me about two weeks, but did me no good. All thought I had but a short time to live. I earnestly prayed to die. Cracked through the skin all over my back, across my ribs, arms, hands, limbs, feet badly swoolen, toe nails came off, finger nails dead and hard as bone, hair dead, dry and lifeless as old straw. Oh, my God! how I did suffer!

"My sister, Mrs. E. H. Davis, had a small part of a box of Cuticura in the house. She wouldn't give up; said 'We will try Cuticura.' Some was applied on one hand and arm. Eureka! there was relief; stopped the terrible burning sensation from the word go. They immediately got the Cuticura Resolvent (blood purifier), Cuticura and Cuticura Soap (the great skin cures). I commenced by taking one tablespoonful of Resolvent three times a day, after meals; had a bath once a day, water about blood heat; used Cuticura Soap freely; applied Cuticura morning and evening. Result, returned to my home in just six weeks from the time I left, and my skin as smooth as this sheet of paper.
